

Here's why little snippets of inspirational poetry can be seen around Northampton

Little snippets of poetry have been appearing in a Northampton park and at the university campus in a bid to spread happiness and positivity.

Poet James McInerney's verses can be seen around the University of Northampton Waterside campus and Becket's Park.